Buy Out My Strongest Competitor

Some year or so ago a coterie of tailors formed a tailoring organization, styling themselves James MacGregor, Inc., incorporated under Massachusetts State laws. They went out in the market and bought goods, hired cutters, tailors, etc., including some of my former employees, and located in Cleveland, Indianapolis, Gloversville, N. Y., Providence, R. I., Hartford, Conn., and Boston, Mass.

They closed up about a month ago. I buy their entire stock from the receiver at about 20% of what they paid for it. All their uncalled for suits, overcoats, odd trousers, coats and vests, and such garments as were in process of construction at the time of their assignment came to Mitchell, The Tailor.

An analysis of the reason they discontinued leads me to believe that they paid too much for their cloths. They bought well but unwisely, paying the long price for expensive merchandise to sell in suits around $25 and $30, which, doing business their way, showed little profit. Their specialty was worsteds and high priced silk mixtures, fine Kersey coatings, expensive plaid backs, and a general line of fabrics that

This is the class of merchandise that I take possession of. Some of it is hardly three months from the boat. I was already loaded with goods. The only thing that caused me to purchase now was the fact that it was an unheard of price for merchandise, that I paid about 20%, and the cloths were mostly dark, servicable patterns, Hundreds of vards of overcoatings which James MacGregor, Inc., bought to sell from $15.50 to $35, my price, Overcoat to Order .....

I want all my old trade to get in on this purchase, order two or three suits or an overcoat, and if you don't want them for a month, let me put them aside for you.

Uncalled for Overcoats ordered by customers in different cities throughout the country at no price less than $15.50, from that up to $30, all ready to wear $7.75

Uncalled for Suits sold by James MacGregor, Inc., at various prices $15.50 to $30, all ready $7.75 to wear.....

Uncalled for coats and $4.00

Uncalled for trousers......

Hundreds of yards of suitings in Tweeds, Cheviots, rough finished effects, bought to sell from $15 to $35, my price, made up any style to your measure.....

Blue Serges, Black Unfinished Worsteds, mostly staple cloths, these were the cream of their stock. I don't believe James MacGregor, Inc., intended to sell a suit under $25 of these fabrics, my price, suit to order, while they last ..... $9.75
